CANADIANS AT THE FESTIVAL OF FESTIVALS/1984

FEB. 23

Revolutions (69 min.)

1984, Canada, directed by Jean Marc Lariviere, with Brigitte Haentiens and Sylvie Lacombe

This film produced a stir amongst cineastes at the festival, with its quite unexpected grace, economy and confidence of purpose. Three women live communally, fixing up their apartment and going about their daily activities. As we watch these women we form impressions of each one as an individual and of the relationships amongst them. An intimate, intensely personal film and a stunning first feature.
